Reel Roots Announces Two Cincinnati Concerts

Two concert events to feature John Whelan, Tommy O'Sullivan, Brendan Begley, Caoimhín Ó Raghallaigh

CINCINNATI—6 May 2010—Reel Roots Folk Music Alliance, a Cincinnati-based Celtic music promoter, has announced two upcoming concerts.

The first concert on Thursday, October 28, 2010 will feature Brendan Begley and Caoimhín Ó Raghallaigh.

“Brendan and Caoimhín will be making their first appearance in our area,” said Kristen Kirby, promoter and owner, “This is a very rare performance which makes it all the more exciting.”

Begley is known for his singing and for performing traditional Irish music on his accordion. Begley is also a member of the well-known band, Boys of the Lough. Ó Raghallaigh, originally from Dublin, Ireland, is a fiddle player known for his creative approach to the traditional genre.

The second concert is Wednesday, November 10, 2010 and features John Whelan and Tommy O'Sullivan.

“John Whelan is a world-renowned button accordion player and Tommy O'Sullivan is a noted singer and guitarist. The combination of these two performers will make for a very special event for Cincinnati,” said Kirby.

Reel Roots is also hosting a giveaway on their website.

“The winner will receive two tickets to an event of their choice and a signed concert poster,” said Kirby. “Details are available on our website at reelrootsfolkmusic.com.”
